From: Allan Kalar
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 1/3/02 12:08pm
Subject: MS Settlement

Yes, Microsoft has some problems, but delaying the settlement is not the way to solve them.

Microsoft's biggest problem is that their operating systems aren't reliable. No amount of legislation or court action is going to fix that.
The marketplace will. Linux is currently replacing Windows as the system of choice for web sites because it's more robust and cheaper per node.
Hardly the scene you'd associate with a monopoly situation.

Don't let the special interests whine their way into the procedings.
Settle this thing now so the world can get on to something important.

Allan Kalar
Viking Waters (not connected with Microsoft)
800-838-5958
alkalar@attglobal.net
PO Box 1975
Elma, WA 98541

--

Don't put a question mark
        where God put a period.